Noah's Ark Animal Welfare Association

Squeaky is a 3-year-old domestic shorthair/mix cat. She came to Noah's Ark when her owner got sick and couldn't care for her any longer. Squeaky was pretty shy to start, but has warmed up nicely. She would do well with a home without children, but enjoys sitting on your lap and getting attention.

Searcher is a one-year old male hound mix that was rescued from a shelter in North Carolina. He has a lot of energy and will be a true southern gentleman with a little bit of training. Searcher gets along with other dogs, is very sweet natured, and loves everyone. He's been neutered and is up-to-date on all shots.

To learn more about Squeaky, Searcher, and Noah's Ark Animal Welfare Association, visit www.noahsarknj.org or call 973-347-0378.

Eleventh Hour
 Rescue

Jones Bonesy is one tough little guy at less than a year old. He started his life with a severe case of the Parvo virus. Left untreated, this virus is always deadly to dogs. Even with the expensive and lengthy treatment cycle required, many dogs still succumb to its deadly power. But not little Jones Bonesy; he pulled through it all and came out with a clean bill of health. His life challenges were not over yet, though; he was then hit by a car. Fortunately, this tough little tank of a pup did not suffer any life threatening injuries.

Jones Bonesy spent time in an oxygen tent under the watchful eye of Dr. Nick Minervini, DVM, of Flanders Veterinary Clinic. He was then transported to AERA, an emergency vet hospital in Fairfield, where he spent a week in recovery. His x-rays were good and no apparent permanent damage was sustained. Again, this little tough guy came out with a clean bill of health, and now he's ready to find his forever home where he can finally be safe and loved.

Cutie is not only an adorable dog, but very smart. She learns quickly and is eager to please. Cutie has very good manners in the car and loves taking walks in the park. She'd prefer to be the only animal in the household.

Coming Home Rescue

Oreo is a 1-year-old female lab/spaniel/pit mix who still has a lot of puppy in her. She's not very big and gets excited to be out and able to play a bit. Oreo has a black and white spotted spaniel-like chest and paws), and short, wavy hair on her back. She has a lab-type coat and a face that seems to be a little of all those breeds. Oreo will need some training, but is very responsive to corrections.

Ayla is a beautiful 1-2 year old pit/boxer mix who weighs around 50
